Christian is fourth generation owner and more recently was a Strategic Planning Manager for Intel Corporation. Throughout his tenure at Intel, Christian has held positions in business development, strategic planning, and financial management with senior executives throughout the organization.

Most recently, he was responsible for developing the business model and term negotiations for Intel Capital's $600 million equity investment in Clearwire, the largest such venture investment in the history of the company, as well as presenting the strategic recommendations for the burgeoning WiMax market. Christian brings a wealth of financial management expertise and best practices from a high-tech industry leader that can be immediately applied to our business, as well as lay the foundation for future business growth.

In his new duties Christian will handle all the financial responsibilities of the company as well as drive the direction and strategy of the corporation. Christian will report to the writer.

Christian and his wife Julia live in Happy Valley, Oregon. They are proud and sleepless parents of eight month twin girls. Christian is an exceptional athlete who loves football, NASCAR, weightlifting, skiing and soccer.

Effective October 11, 2007 Cody Stavig has joined the company as operating manager and owner but will not join the company on a daily basis until June 2008 when he completes his MBA degree at the University of Oregon. Cody will be active, even as a student, in developing strategy for the new companies and will be involved in projects from time-to-time.

Cody Stavig

University of Oregon, MBA, 2008

University of Texas, BBA Management Information Systems, BA Anthropology, 2005

Cody is the youngest of the fourth generation investors and is currently a graduate teaching fellow at the Lundquist Center for Entrepreneurship at the University of Oregon. As a graduate student, Cody has consulted for Jeld-Wen, Kryptiq, and the Oregon Entrepreneurs Network, and Woodfold-Marco in areas ranging from operations to marketing research to marketing plan development. As an undergraduate, he researched environmental legislation and its effects on sustainable supply chain management at Intel. In addition to his creativity and management talents, Cody demonstrated a determined attitude by walking on to the University of Texas Football program and playing defensive back for the Longhorns on the 2005 National Championship team. He was the first player to ever play for Texas from the state of Oregon.
